

School Management System using IPv6

Recently, there have been a lot of problems concerning academic training. Especially, crimes aimed at elementary and middle school students have been increasing. The parents of the students must feel very anxious. It would be nice if I can relieve this feeling even by a bit.

Also, new problems such as decline in academic ability due to decrease of school time, need of education of human quality has aroused. It would be nice if there is a system to ease this problem somehow. To do this, if each child has its own terminal, and each home has a PC, with IPv6 in use, it would be great.

What would be nice to have in IPv6 School Management System

1) Show appearance of class to the parents

Make it possible for the parents to see your child study in class. It is very profitable for the parents to know what kind of lecture their child is having. Also, the parents will feel safe if they can see their child.

2) Confirm location when commuting

Crime aiming at students when commuting has increased in recent years. We will make it possible for the parents to know the current location when commuting. By doing so, the parents will feel safe, and it will also be effective for crime prevention.

3) Check attendance of student easily

The teachers will be able to check attendance of the students right away, so the time used to check attendance will be shortened. You can also easily check if there was a prior report of the student being absent that day.

4) Communication with students from other schools

Communication with students from other schools is possible by placing a PC at school. It is a great chance for students in schools located up in the mountains to get to know other people in the same generation.

Example of School Management using IPv6

Communication with students from other schools

Communication with students from other schools using the school's PC is possible. You can also connect your own terminal to the PC and share data.

Show appearance of class

You can check the appearance of the class by the camera placed inside the class.

Check attendance

You can check the attendance of each student instantaneously by the student's terminal.

Confirmation of location when commuting

The current location of your children can be grasped using GPS information.
